

Friday, November 29th

Primary Objectives:

1. Capture Intel: Locate and secure enemy maps, troop deployments, and any critical documents or SIGINT stations. Capture some POWs if you want. Or don't.
  2. Neutralize Radar: Destroy the enemy's early warning radar installations to blind their defenses in this sector.
  3. Cripple Archer Missiles: Disable or destroy Archer missile batteries.
  4. Airfield Sabotage: Sabotage a diversionary airfield. Blow up fuel tanks. Make it look sloppy. Maybe put a tracker or two on the aircraft there.

The Good News:

- The area is guarded by bumper troops—poorly trained and minimally equipped grunts.
  - If you play your cards right, you can stealth the whole mission.
  - It will be very simple to cripple their eyes and ears, so you can go weapons free after you disable their communications!

The Bad News:

- You're flying blind. We have zero intel on the map, enemy positions, or installations.
  - You'll need to locate a SIGINT station or similar data source to build a clearer picture of the future areas. If you fuck it up, then the 89th will have a hard time.
  - If you are planning on going weapons free, then you'll need to destroy communications infrastructure first. Better bring a spectrum analyzer to find their radio beacon!
